Kissinger to seek settlement on Sinai

By The Associated Press

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Paris Wednesday to begin a four-day European trip that will focus on a new settlement in the Sinai Desert between Egypt and Israel. He disputed reports that the two sides were near agreement.

"We are not anywhere near the point of an agreement," Kissinger told reporters as he left Washington. However, he said the United States would do whatever was possible to bring about a Middle East settlement.

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat was quoted in an interview carried by Hearst Newspapers today as indicating basic terms of a new Sinai agreement with Israel have been worked out through the United States. Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin said, however, "key issues" remain unresolved.

Kissinger's visit to Europe includes a meeting with Rabin on Saturday in Bonn.

Sadat, in the interview with William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor in chief of the Hearst newspapers, and Hearst writer J. Kingsbury Smith, in Alexandria said the new agreement would include the return to Egypt of the Sinai oilfields.

Kissinger will meet next week in Geneva with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to review the continuing Middle East crisis and nuclear weapons negotiations, U.S. officials said.

The State Department, in a July 10-11 session would provide "an exchange of views on matters of mutual interest to both sides."

It was learned, meanwhile, that Kissinger would stop in Paris and London to see French and British officials on his way home. He plans to return in time to throw out the first ball at the All-Star Baseball game in Milwaukee July 15.

The Ford administration is reaching the point of decision on a new policy following months of reassessment of the Middle East situation. President Ford told newsmen Monday that he would have to recommend a broad solution to the dispute unless the present deadlock in negotiations was broken.

The United States and the Soviet Union resumed their SALT II talks in Geneva after a recess during which negotiators consulted with their home governments.

The major technical issue to be resolved is verification of missiles carrying multiple warheads. Prospects for a pact improved in the last few weeks when Moscow hinted at compromise in the calculation of its new SS18 missiles against the 1,320 ceiling tentatively set by Ford and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev in Vladivostok.

price hike

Local service stations hurt

By LOWELL N. STEELE
Universe Staff Writer

and gas price hike of from one to three cents a gallon even harder than before for local stations to stay in business, according to dealers interviewed.

Dealers and distributors agreed that the regulation of the oil industry has been a factor in the higher prices. "I really feel that a great deal of the blame for the government regulation of the oil industry should be placed on the government," said Dell H. Bosen, local gas station owner. "If they were not sure oil companies were in business, another local owner, was more out government control. 'If they were within 30 days we'd have 30-cent gas,'"

FEA inefficiency

Dealers, a bulk distributor, agreed. "The FEA should not get involved in the oil business," he said. Egerton said over-regulation by the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) has resulted in inefficiency in the oil industry.

"It's putting the distributors, and the service stations right out of business," he continued. Egerton explained that the price hikes have "increased the dealers' inventory without giving him any further margin for profit."

Part of the problem in regulation is the entitlement program, according to Bosen. The entitlement program allows smaller refineries to buy domestic crude oil from the larger refineries at the lowest price available, he said.

This, in effect, requires the larger companies to pay the smaller ones for buying their oil, and then to replace the oil sold with foreign oil at a higher price, Bosen continued.

Many stations bankrupt

Many stations have already gone out of business, according to Reid Day, executive secretary of the Utah Association of Petroleum Retailers. "We've lost 20 to 25 per cent of the dealers across the state in the last two years," he explained.

"Chevron has closed eight Salt Lake stations in the last 60 days, and it is rumored that it intends to close 20 more," Day added.

Adjustment wanted

He said the best move by the government would be making an industry-wide adjustment of crude oil prices so that all the companies would pay the same. This would set the stage for lower prices, Day explained.

The biggest problem now, according to Bosen, is simply the unpleasantness of doing business. "It's just not as much fun anymore," he explained, adding that many more customers complain about prices than before.

Bosen also said that he is doing about the same business as two years ago, but "because of the competitive situation here in Provo, the margin of profit is thinner."

He added that the higher prices "have made people more conscious of gas prices, and have caused a trend toward more self-service stations."

George Pace, former professor of year, will speak Tuesday.

The topic of Tuesday's devotional assembly will be "The Church and Developing a Personal Relationship with Christ," discussed by an assistant professor of church history and doctrine.

George Pace will be the devotional speaker July 15 at 10 a.m. in the De Jong Concert Hall, HFAC.

A native of Burley, Idaho, Pace received his B.A. in political science from BYU in 1961 and his M.A. in guidance and counseling from Colorado State University in 1963. He did graduate studies at Stanford University and is currently completing his doctorate in religious education at BYU.

He is the author of several articles printed in church publications, and has recently published a book entitled "The Faith of Young Mormons."

Bitter pill: sugar cost on way up

By RICHARD W. SHEFFIELD and LISA M. GUNN
Universe Staff writers

Sugar prices are on the rise again, according to an Associated Press release.

Prices have already risen considerably in the East and the increase is expected to hit the West in the near future. Keith Wallentine, vice-president of Utah-Idaho Sugar, said that prices have not yet started to rise again in the West. Wallentine checked with his sales division and confirmed the prices to be stable for the moment.

"But since we are subject to the same influences that the firms back East are, I imagine that the price increase will eventually reach us," Wallentine said.

The wire story said that the rising prices of raw sugar have made the wholesale price $1.30 for a five-pound sack.

A local grocer estimated the wholesale price in Provo at present to be $1.20 for a five-pound sack.

A distribution firm in Salt Lake City also said that as far as it knows, the prices have not risen yet, although the assistant manager, Wayne Hadley, said he heard prices were going up.

One local grocery store manager, who asked to remain anonymous, said he feels that the price increase is due to a false shortage created by sugar refiners.

"When prices go back up, people will buy scared for a while. That will get rid of the surplus in the storehouses and make room for the new crop."

The Utah-Idaho Sugar representative said that sugar is a worldwide market, and that as of yet it is hard to say what the exact influences are that could cause a price increase.

Asked why sugar prices have been fluctuating, another local store manager commented, "Nobody likes to say why." He also expects sales to increase when prices begin to rise.

The Associated Press release also said that authorities do not anticipate anything like last year's sharp increase.

BYU Execs to discuss by-laws of traffic court

By DON BRYANT
Universe Staff Writer

Discussion of the traffic court by-laws will be the main item in today's ASBYU Executive Council meeting, at 10 a.m. in 388 ELWC.

The traffic court reviews student appeals on traffic citations issued by Security, and is staffed by student judges. Judges have been appointed to this position in the past by the ASBYU president and have not been required to pass any form of test.

In an effort to make the court more professional,

ASBYU Pres. Bob Henrie wants to require all traffic court justices to take and pass an exam. The exam will cover the knowledge an applicant has of the traffic laws and judges his ability to reason and make judgments.

"There will be no limit on the number of times that an applicant can take the exam, but he will not be allowed to hear cases until he passes the test," Henrie said.

According to Henrie, judges have not known the traffic laws thoroughly enough in the past and have been inconsistent in their decisions.

Henrie added, "Judges have not shown up on time in the past and as a result cases have been dismissed because of the judge not being there."

"Many students don't realize that this traffic court is not the last place for appeal. A decision can be appealed to the Supreme Court at BYU if the student wants to," Henrie said.

Chief Robert W. Kelshaw of BYU Security said he supports Henrie in his efforts to have this exam mandatory and wants to have unity between the Security officers and the traffic court judges concerning decisions on traffic violations.

The orientation packets for new students will be a topic in today's meeting also. In an effort to save money this year, the orientation packets will be distributed to the new students in their dorm rooms and at the "Meet Your Dean Night."

"The packets will contain information about the school, maps, schedules, information about Provo and the facilities downtown, along with discount coupons from local merchants," according to Henrie.

Clark Richter, ASBYU executive vice president, commented that a "first" will take place soon with the ASBYU executive council. A group of BYU students from the Y View trailer court will be coming to present their problem to the Executive Council. The students feel that the speed limit along University Avenue in front of the trailer park is unsafe for their children and are appealing to the Executive Council for help.

Richter said "This type of action by student groups represents a positive approach by student government to serve the real needs of the students."

Nixon, registration office graduate assistant. The last day that pre-registration forms will be accepted is Aug. 19.

Registration officials announced that 18,000 students took advantage of the priority pre-registration deadline and turned in their forms by July 7.

"Students who priority pre-registered will receive instructions on how to pay their tuition when they receive confirmation of their class schedule," said Nixon.

If the registration office fails to receive the tuition of those who priority pre-registered by Aug. 22, the student must pay at in-person finalization either Aug. 29 or 30 in the Richards Building. All new freshmen will be required to attend the in-person finalization. A schedule of times for the in-person finalization can be found in alphabetical order in the class schedule.

High Sierras displayed in film

By MARK FUHRMAN
Universe Staff Writer
 Man's relationship to nature was the topic presented in a narrated film at the forum assembly Tuesday.

DeWitt Jones, a photographer and film maker whose work has received public acclaim and attracted the sponsorship of such motion picture notables as David Wolper Productions and the National Geographic Society, presented and narrated his own color film, "John Muir's High Sierras." Jones' film was produced with the support of the National Geographic Society and was nominated for two Academy Awards. Eighteen months in production, this film uses the life and travels of famed conservationist John Muir to tie together a story of California's Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Highlights of the film included the majestic Yosemite Valley, time-lapse photography of summer storms, backpacking into the high country; and a three-week ski touring and mountaineering expedition into the Sierra in winter.

Using the words of Muir, "The snow is melting into music," Jones was able to show the coming of spring by tracing the path of a stream from the snow fields of the high country to the falls of Yosemite Valley.

"You spend half the morning looking up the mountain. The hardest thing about climbing is convincing yourself to get off the ground."

He continued, "Climbing is sometimes strenuous and sometimes it's poetic and free. The rhythm begins and the ground starts to disappear below."

When asked if he plans out exactly what he will film, Jones said that he likes to remain flexible. "I just film the things which really move me because these are probably the things Muir wrote about," he said.

Sales opens Temple tours offered Saturday

The main ballroom of the Wilkinson Center will be turned into a mini-department store for three hours on Saturday as another lost and found sale takes place.

The sale of items offered "as is" and at least 50 percent off regular retail prices will begin at 11 a.m., according to Jerry L. Bishop, business office manager of the Wilkinson Center. The mini-store will close at 2 p.m.

Bishop emphasized that there are no refunds and students usually start lining up at the east entrance to the ballroom around 7 a.m.

English exams will be given

The Junior English Proficiency Exam will be given Saturday at 9 a.m. in the JSB Auditorium. Registration is at 8:30 a.m. Students taking the exam should pick up tickets from their college advisement centers this week.

The Undergraduate Record Exam for all English majors who will be graduating in August and have not yet taken the exam will be at 8 a.m. on July 19 in 184 JKB. Students should sign up for the exam in A246 JKB.

Beginning this Saturday, travelers and local residents of the Provo Temple will be able to enjoy guided tours of the grounds.

The tours will be conducted by volunteer guides from the seventies quorum of Orem Sharon West Stake of the Church.

Each year, the temple draws tourists and townspeople to its peaceful grounds overlooking scenic Utah. Visitors have come from throughout the United States and many foreign countries.

LTM begins expansion to house missionaries

By RICHARD W. SHEFFIELD
Universe Staff Writer

The Language Training Mission is having to make housing adjustments because of a greater number of missionaries being sent in response to a plea by President Spencer W. Kimball.

President Kimball said in last year's June Conference that there were 18,500 missionaries in the field, and this year said there were 20,100, according to Clyde Bair, director of General Services of BYU.

This means that 265 missionaries are housed in student dorms as compared to 100 last year, continued Bair. All of these missionaries are presently living in Heritage Halls.

However, Bair said, by the middle of August there will be no more missionaries in Heritage Halls. "At this time St. Francis School will be available to provide housing, food and teaching facilities for 200 people," said Pres. Max L. Pinegar of the LTM.

Adding to these numbers, missionaries who would usually go to Hawaii will now come to BYU. Arrangements have been made, for the first time, to teach the Chinese languages, Mandarin and Cantonese, to elders and sisters.

This is the second week that missionaries have come to the BYU LTM on the same day that they enter into the Salt Lake Mission Home, according to Pinegar.

The procedure now is to have the leaders and sisters come to BYU Saturday night after having entered Salt Lake City in the morning.

"They receive the instruction in Provo, at the LTM, that they usually receive in Salt Lake City," Pinegar said that the missionaries going to Ricks and those going to statewide missions still remain in the Mission Home for the normal period.

Pinegar said that the missionaries going to Ricks and those going to statewide missions still remain in the Mission Home for the normal period.

Dr. Christensen said the packet has the application form and all instructions for students to follow.

Although applications will be accepted until July 15, Dr. Christensen encouraged students to apply early to assure proper placement.

Pinegar explained that those in Hawaii right now will be there until August and will be the last ones to be taught a foreign language in the island state. Groups that are going to Japan will start coming to BYU July 19.

In the fall, the number of missionaries is one-third greater than any other time of the year, according to Pinegar.

The LTM president said that the scheduled completion date for the new LTM will be the summer of 1976. The complex is self-contained.

Fall books to occupy text slots

Today will be the last day students will find summer term text books on the text floor of the bookstore.

Friday, the work of setting up the text floor for fall term will begin, according to Brian Harward of the Bookstore text division. Harward encouraged students to buy any texts which they need this term by Thursday to avoid inconveniences or complications in finding necessary text books.

It will be possible, according to Harward, to buy summer texts after Thursday, but the procedure will take extra time. Harward said that students trying to buy texts after Thursday will have to make a special request for the text at the information desk and then wait while a search is done in the text cages used for storage.

Harward said that because of the heavy work load, the changeover from summer term to fall term must be done early. Harward estimated that 60 percent of the texts on the floor for summer term will be changed and that there will be 10 times more books on the floor for fall semester.

Ford planning for $10 million campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON — President Ford's campaign managers hope to spend the full $10 million permitted by law in his campaign for the 1976 Republican nomination, an informed source said today. Ford campaign officials said after Ford's formal announcement of candidacy Tuesday that the spending limits in the new federal campaign law mean the President Ford Committee will have about 50 to 55 employees. By contrast, President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 campaign committee had more than 200 employees.

Dobrynin and his wife will be guests of Dr. James Fletcher of the U.S. space agency. The Soviet ambassador will become the first Russian government official to view an American space launch.

In the Soviet Union, the Russian liftoff at the vast Baikonur Cosmodrome in central Russia will be witnessed by U.S. Ambassador Walter Stoessel and his wife.

Rabin pays death camp victims tribute

BONN, Germany — "With mixed feelings, both as a Jew and as an Israeli," Yitzhak Rabin flew to Bergen-Belsen on Tuesday to pay tribute to 50,000 Jews who perished in the Nazi death camp.

He made the pilgrimage by helicopter soon after arriving in West Germany as the first Israeli prime minister in office to visit the country.

Rabin later flew to West Berlin to demonstrate his solidarity with the Communist-encircled city 110 miles inside East Germany. It was the first visit by a foreign government head since the tension-easing Four Power Berlin agreement was signed in 1971.

Belmont Park funeral for 'Ruffian'

NEW YORK — There was no racing at Belmont Park Tuesday where the New York Racing Association flag flew at half staff in tribute to Ruffian, the gallant filly who was buried in the infield the night before.

A small group, including her trainer, Frank Whiteley, and her jockey, Jacinto Vasquez, paid their last respects to Ruffian, who had to be destroyed after shattering a bone in her right front leg in Sunday's $350,000 match race against Foolish Pleasure.

Stuart Janney, owner of the filly who had won 10 consecutive races before Sunday's tragedy, had asked that Ruffian be buried at Belmont and the NYRA agreed.

Elder Hales: serving God saves agency

By STEVEN BENTLEY
Universe Staff Writer

Everyone has a responsibility to serve God to preserve his liberty, his nation's freedom and ultimately his personal free agency, said Elder Robert Hales, Sunday's fireside speaker.

Elder Hales, Assistant to the Council of the Twelve, reflected back on the signing of the Declaration of Independence which took place 199 years ago.

He asked three questions: 1) Was the Revolutionary War really a holy cause of liberty? 2) Is there a just God who presides over the destiny of nations? 3) Is free agency important? He said the answer to these three questions is a definite "yes."

Elder Hales then quoted an ancient American prophet of Book of Mormon times: "Behold this is a choice land and whatsoever nation shall possess it shall be free from bondage and from captivity and from all other nations under heaven if they will but serve the God of the land who is Jesus Christ. For behold this is a land which is choice above all other lands, wherefore, he that possesses it shall serve God or be swept off. For this is the everlasting decree of God."

According to Elder Hales, Joseph Smith in the 101st section of the Doctrine and Covenants stated, "I established the Constitution of this land, by the hands of wise men whom I raised up unto this very purpose."

According to Elder Hales, Wilford Woodruff said these men laid the foundation of the Declaration of Independence and were the best spirits the God of Heaven could find on the face of the earth. They were choice spirits, inspired of the Lord.

Every one of these men who signed the Declaration of Independence, along with George Washington, called upon Wilford Woodruff in the Saint George Temple for two consecutive nights and demanded that he should go forth and attend to their ordinances at the House of the Lord for them, he recalled.

Knowing that this is a choice land and a nation with a divine mission, founded upon the guiding hand of God, what obligation is there to preserve the tenets of the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and Constitution of the United States, asked Elder Hales.

Elder Hales said that Joseph Smith could not have restored the gospel without freedom of religion. It was no accident that Joseph Smith was born only a few years after George Washington died and after the land was made free.

Elder Hales said that each person is in a position to express his personal beliefs in public forums and elections. Every citizen has the right to discuss an issue as a citizen of the community in a town meeting.

He said that anyone is in the position to withdraw personal time and financial support from those books, movies, television programs and political and public establishments that do not uphold the standards of a free people. He said that total freedom to one will be an oppression of another's freedom. The devil himself will not participate in anything unless it makes a profit.

Elder Hales said that each person should establish where he is going to get direction in using free agency. The commandments are here for our purpose and that is to save us from those things which can destroy us.

U.S.-Soviet grain deal not yet official

HARRISBURG, Pa. — A new U.S.-Soviet grain deal has been boosted but not actually announced by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz.

Although a similar deal two years ago turned into a controversy after wheat shortages developed and there were allegations that middlemen reaped enormous profits, Butz strongly defended it Tuesday.

Butz, here to meet with state agriculture official, told newsmen that the shortages may have raised prices, but nobody went without bread. He said such sales greatly help the U.S. balance of trade.

3 Indochina refugee camps to close

ANNVILLE, Pa. — The federal government plans to close three of its four Indochina refugee camps by winter, a spokeswoman says. The center at Ft. Chaffee, Ariz., is the one that would stay open.

"It's not a date we can set; it depends on the weather. And we've always envisioned closing Eglin first" because it is the least efficient of the three camps, said Eleanor Green.

Her agency has been releasing about 715 refugees daily from the camps—those who have sponsors or enough money to strike out on their own.

Susan Ford works as photographer

TOPEKA, Kan. — With Secret Service agents in tow, Susan Ford has started work as a $115-a-week summer photography intern with the Daily Capital-Journal.

"I really like it so far," the President's daughter said Tuesday after her first assignment—a sheriff's auction at the Shawnee County Courthouse of land on which taxes had not been paid.

"Under somewhat unusual circumstances, she did as well as anyone could have done," said Rich Clarkson, the newspaper's director of photography.

OMEGA Ω CONSTELLATION CHRONOMETERS

OMEGA INTRODUCES THE TOTAL CHRONOMETER LOOK FOR CHRONOMETERS.

Omega reasoned that since an Omega Chronometer is more than an ordinary watch, it should have a distinct look of its own—balanced and solid, just like the chronometer itself.

It's why the Omega Constellation Chronometer flows so very smoothly in case to band and back again. The Constellation is a completely unobtrusive, simple and solid design. The case is carved out of a solid block of metal (18 karat gold or stainless steel), then finished by hand. Each link of the band is precisely contoured and fitted to the case so that the overall look is one of perfect harmony.

It's a good look at the Omega Constellation. It's a good way to tell a chronometer from a watch.

Center undergoes expansion

By DONALD B. CANOVA
Universe Staff Writer

The Hobby Center is going through a major expansion which should, by August, increase the space available for do-it-yourselfers by about one third.

"The big difference will be better service," said Elvin Ostler, hobby center manager.

Eight more workbenches and a new 14-inch table saw are being installed, and the area for quiet crafts is being moved to where the Hobby Store is now located.

"These changes will make it safer and more serviceable for those working on quiet crafts," Ostler explained. In the past, workers on ceramics or leather had to walk between saws and drill presses to get to the quiet area.

The expansion of the quiet area will enable parents to bring their children to help work on crafts. The 35 cents use fee for the area will also be dropped in the fall. Materials will still need to be purchased, however.

By removing the glass wall which previously divided the quiet and noisy crafts, space for working on wood and lapidary will increase considerably. More project storage space is also being provided for hobbyists to store large projects.

Specialization

The expanded working areas are not the only benefits from the construction in the Hobby Center, according to Ostler. Separation of the two areas will allow attendants to specialize in particular types of crafts. It will therefore be possible to provide hobbyists with better help and advice, according to Ostler.

The expansion will not require any additional attendants, Ostler continued, but will increase the quality of help offered to hobbyists. Ceramic potters, which in the past have not been attendants, will work in the quiet area giving first-hand help in ceramics.

Finishing area

In addition to expansion of the noisy and quiet areas, a finishing area is also being constructed. This will enable painting and lacquer finishing without causing discomfort to other workers nearby.

During the construction, which will hopefully be completed by Aug. 1, work on quiet crafts can be done in the back of the Hobby Store, Ostler went on to say.

By the time the expansion is finished the Hobby Store will be moved next door to room 118 ELWC, which is currently part of the Wilkinson Center Photo Studio.

Moving will enlarge the Hobby Store by about half, according to Ostler.

Billings Energy Research promotes mass transit bus

By FRED D. LEWIS
Universe Staff Writer

Whether or not Utah Valley has a hydrogen-powered mass transit system, a Provo company plans to have an experimental version of a hydrogen bus operating in a few weeks.

The new bus will be used to show costs of operation and maintenance while in simulated public use.

Although the hydrogen bus system is still in the experimental study stage, many large cities have been in contact with his company about application of the mass transit system in their locations, said Robert W. Tarnan, assistant to the president of Billings Energy Research Corp.

In June of this year, Provo City Commissioner Wayne Hillier, Mountainlands Association of Governments Representative Robert D. Kunz, and Provo businessman and researcher Roger E. Billings, came together to propose a Utah Valley mass transit system powered by engines consuming only hydrogen as fuel.

Billings and Commissioner Hillier then traveled to Washington, D.C. on June 13, to promote their $2,300,000 proposal. While there, presentations were made before Utah Congressman Gunn McKay and the Energy Research and Development Administration.

The two presentations stressed the practical aspects of hydrogen as an answer to pollution problems.

Commissioner Hillier reported that the presentation was very well received.

The following week on June 20, Tarnan revisited Washington to stimulate further interest in the mass transit system proposed. Tarnan said the project is still under consideration. ERDA. However, he said that a new experimental prototype will be ready for study within the next few weeks.

Internships in graphic arts to be offered by BYU in fall

BYU's Communications Department will provide graphic arts students unique opportunities for learning experiences in an internship setting, beginning this fall.

The BYU Graphic Arts said, it is hoped that the Communications Department is unique, according to McRay Magleby, art director. He said, "Communications Arts" magazine printed a feature article on its uniqueness among other departments in American colleges. At most universities, graphic art work is taken out to agencies in the surrounding city, according to Magleby.

Here at BYU, he continued, "We have established our own department, which gives students a real chance to work in their field."

Beginning this fall, Magleby said, it is hoped that the department can provide several internships for outstanding students in graphic arts.

Students who are accepted for internships will be working for a few hours each day getting a good look at a variety of different projects and having the opportunity to practice what they have been learning in their classes in a professional setting.

Some of the activities will be photography, designing, illustrating, lettering, paste-up and silk screening. Magleby said he feels if his department were rated with others around the country it would rank in the top 20. With this kind of professionalism for the students to be involved in, they should be well prepared when they leave the university, he added.

County Commission Planner Mark W. Johnson (left) and County Surveyor Vern Green survey area between Bridal Veil Falls and Rotary Park in Provo Canyon where proposed walkway and amphitheater will be located if plan is accepted by Utah County.

In Provo Canyon

Amphitheater planned

Utah County is currently considering a request by the Greater Bridal Veil Falls Corp. to create a nature walk and amphitheater in Provo Canyon. The proposed walk would be between Provo Rotary Park Bowery and the Bridal Veil Falls facilities. The walk would permit access to the amphitheater for patrons. The amphitheater would seat 300 to 350 a showing and create an outlet for local talent and those attending BYU, according to Dave Grow, owner of Bridal Veil Falls facilities. "The stage will be built so it can be moved if necessary," said Grow. "Restroom facilities and electricity will have to be brought into the site."

Utah County officials are waiting for a written proposal by the corporation and confirmation from the state highway department on the roadway before making a final decision. When all the facts are gathered and brought before the body of commissioners, then a decision can be made, according to Commissioner Karl Lyman. But Gerald Bringhurst of Utah County Parks and Recreation said, "I don't like to see the cutting of trees. I do not like to charge people for the facilities in the canyon." Bringhurst also commented that this may detract from citizen use of Rotary Park.

Training offered in leadership

International students may receive special leadership training this fall to help them when they return to their native countries.

In conjunction with the International Student Office, religion and counseling classes in leadership will be offered to foreign students, according to Dwane N. Andersen, International Student adviser.

He went on to explain that these classes are structured to prepare foreign students to be better church leaders and develop leadership potentials.

Four classes in the Religion Department and Personal Development Center are being offered, according to Leonel Sa Maia, a graduate assistant in the program.

An introductory course in genealogy, with special sections for Asian and Spanish students, will be offered to teach research methods that apply to each specific country, Maia commented.

There will be a class in priesthood and church government. Maia explained that the objective of the class is to increase knowledge of the correlation program, church organizations and the priesthood.

A practical class in applying priesthood resources to teach youth and youth leaders about outdoor skills is also being offered, said Maia.

He said small groups will discuss interpersonal communications through interviewing and counseling in another of these special courses.

Placement Center call for prospective grads

By VAUGHN GOURLEY
Universe Staff Writer

Students planning to graduate in December of this year, or in April or August of 1976, should make plans now to register with the Placement Center in September.

According to Wayne Hansen, director of the Placement Center, all students should register with the center.

"Even if you are going on to graduate school you should still register with us," he said. "Your plans might change."

Hansen noted that the summer months are slow times for most recruiters.

"Right now we are very slow," he noted. "The fall and spring semester are the most active times for recruiting."

"We have a high percentage of students registering from engineering, education, accounting and general business," he stated. "We are lower in percentages in relation to humanities and the social sciences because many of those students go on to graduate school."

Hansen indicated that job interviews have been the highest in business, computer science, engineering, and accounting. He noted that although this is the case now, it can vary from year to year.

Concerning foreign students at BYU, Hansen said, "We work with foreign students as much as possible. But a student visa only allow the foreign student a maximum of 18 months of working time a graduation before he is required to leave."

Hansen said that students can get help preparing for job interviews and letter application through Placement Center workshops.

"We have workshops weekly, starting in September, in resume writing, letter writing and interviewing," he said. "We also have a library at the Placement Center on most of the employers that work through the center."

He indicated that students should know what they want before they make an appointment for an interview.

"One of the big problems that we have is the student getting into an interview then telling the recruiter that the particular job that the interviewer is interviewing for is not what he had in mind," he said.

War dead to be noted on plaque

A search for BYU alumni killed in the Korean and Vietnam wars is being conducted by the Alumni House.

According to Lyle S. Curtis, director of the Wilkinson Center offices and services, the names will be presented on a plaque and hung next to the names of BYU alumni killed in World Wars I and II.

"We don't want to leave anyone out," Curtis said, "but the list is as yet incomplete."

The search for names is two years old, and so far the names of 25 alumni killed in Vietnam and two killed in Korea have been found, Norma King of Alumni Records said.

According to Miss King, the Alumni House advertised in local newspapers when the POWs were released and some veterans supplied the names of BYU alumni they knew in Vietnam.

Art competition and auction to be held nationwide in fall

By CATHARINE DELONG
Universe Staff Writer

The first National Art competition and auction will be held this November to celebrate America's bicentennial. Artists must submit entry applications by Sept. 1.

Sven Larsen, executive director of the American Kidney Fund, sponsor of the competition, said the purpose of the project is to "provide a window to the public for all working artists and afford collectors an opportunity to view the works of the broadest possible spectrum of artists."

To enter, the artist must submit a 35 mm color slide of his work, which will then be reproduced in full color and made available to more than 5,000 prospective buyers.

According to Bill Haywood, head of public relations for the contest, a limited number of applications will be accepted, and the entry fee of $150 will be refunded in full to artists whose paintings are not selected.

Collectors wishing to participate in the auction can do so by sending in their name and address as early as possible. Color reproductions of paintings will then be mailed to them, along with a bid sheet.

Artists and collectors wishing to participate should contact: National Art Auction for 1975, c/o American Kidney Fund, 7315 Wisconsin Ave., Suite 447-W, Bethesda, Md. 20814.

Haywood said the total sale price of paintings will go to the artist, since the sponsor does not charge a gallery fee.

Tele-tip knows the answers

JOHN WISE
Verse Staff Writer
 tip, a program by Student Life was created to help get answers to those that might be difficult to get. According to Dr. Ray, chairman of Standards, Tele-tip service two years recently. Tele-tip covers nearly 200 subjects totaling over eight hours of listening and dealing with health, academic, student government, legal and other questions. "Tele-tip is now using two phone lines to help students have an easier access to the information," he said. When a student calls Tele-tip, an operator answers and the caller gives a predetermined number of his question. The operator then puts the tape which corresponds to the question number on a special phone recorder and it is played to the student. Dr. Alvord originated the idea of the system and is supervisor of the project. He said that the service was created because "the student didn't know where to get it, or was afraid to ask." He added that there have been 11,000 calls in the last eight months, and that students use Tele-tip most during registration when the brochures are distributed.

"The amount of calls increases sharply as the subject listings are printed and distributed," he said. Answers to questions on the tapes are provided by experts in that particular area: doctors answer health questions, legal experts answer legal queries, etc. Subjects are added or deleted according to the frequency the questions are asked. The questions most frequently asked by students are in the areas of health and academic subjects, Dr. Alvord noted. Dr. Alvord said that students have called suggesting changes in the list or corrections in the answers. "We encourage that," he said. "Students who find faults on tapes or have suggestions to make should call us." "There is also a fringe benefit," he said. "When a student learns something from Tele-tip, that student is then a source of information for other students."

BYU dancers touring Europe

BYU Folk Dancers perform in view of the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

By DEBORAH HEWARD
Universe Staff Writer

The BYU International Folk Dance Team left for Europe last week for a month of touring, performing and participating in cultural activities.

According to Don Allen, tour director, the team of 24 dancers will arrive in Amsterdam to help the city celebrate its 700th anniversary. After this first stop, the team will remain in the Netherlands but travel south to Rotterdam, Berchem, Antwerp and Brussels will be cities visited in Belgium.

Brussels will be the main performance in the sequence of Belgium shows as the folk dancers will perform in the Grand Place, an honorary performance center.

Rest and relaxation will be enjoyed in Paris, Allen said. "BYU will have a few days to shop and rest." "BYU will be performing alone in most cases except Gannet, France and Amsterdam, said Allen. At these celebrations, there are usually 11 teams involved. However, one performance during the tour will be a gathering of dance groups from all over Europe and the Near East.

"This will be a tremendous cultural experience for the team," stated Allen. "It will be a meeting of all dancers and musicians to see each other perform. It will be a fantastic experience."

Along with the 24 dancers will be the team director, Mrs. Mary Bee Jensen, who will work as artistic director; Dave Schultness, functioning as a public relations man for BYU; and Dan Allen, tour director, composing the leadership.

Roles cast for drama production

Casting for the upcoming production, "Poor Howard," has been announced by its director, Ivan A. Crook, assistant professor of Theatre and Cinematic Arts.

Playing the lead role of Howard will be Robert Erickson, a sophomore in television and film production from Denver, Colo.

The play tells how Howard and his wife, Emmy, played by Lisa Castleton, a junior in theatre education from Costa Mesa, Calif., move into an old mansion left to them by Howard's uncle.

The house is haunted by tap dancing ghosts, played by Kelli Jamison, Joseph Batzel, Lora Lark Phillips, J. Howard Stoddard and John S. Huntington.

Other characters include two housekeepers played by Lynn Frost and Polly Sorensen, said Dr. Crook. Additional cast members are Leslie Anderson, Wilson Raiser, Susan Anderson, Chris Brower and Deb Tholen.

Costumes for the production have been designed by Ruth Brown, a graduate student in costume design. The set and light director is Dr. Karl T. Pope. "Poor Howard" will play July 31, Aug. 1-2, 4-9 in the Pardee Theatre, HFAC. A family matinee will be held on Aug. 4.

Tickets will go on sale July 21 at 10 a.m. and will be sold each day from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Colleen Bird, ticket office manager of the Fine Arts Center. Cast will be $1 with current activity card.

Music professor to present recital

Dr. Erich Schwandt, musicologist and harpsichordist, will offer a harpsichord recital in the Madsen Recital Hall Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The recital will include the works of artists such as Louis Couperin, Francis Couperin le Grand, and a number of compositions of Johann Sebastian Bach, said Ken Robinson, music department publicity director.

Dr. Schwandt, who began a two-week seminar dealing with Bach, July 7, is the visiting professor of music at BYU for Summer 1975. He was educated at Stanford University, where he received his Ph.D. in music. He studied harpsichord with Putnam Aldrich, wanda Landowska scholar of Baroque music, and a recitalist through country, said Robinson.

In addition to teaching and schedule, Dr. Schwandt contributed articles "Musical Quarterly" and "The author of music on Baroque music for the forthcoming of 'Grove's Dictionary of Music'."

For the last seven years he has taught at the School of Music in New York City. He will join the musicology of the University of B.C.

Hollywood horror film is dead entertainment

by PAUL ROBERTS
Universe Managing Editor

Disaster films are still being cranked out of Hollywood. "Till Death" is no exception; it is a real disaster.

The most touching scene of the film is when a ghoul is wowing a zombie in a tomb. Set aside the humor of that terrifying sequence, and nothing remains but a real dead flick.

"Till Death" is about a young man whose bride is killed in an automobile accident while on their honeymoon. The groom is injured.

After recovering, the groom visits the morbid mortician who took care of the bride's body. He wants to find out where the girl is buried.

The movie counterfeits the suspense created by the thrillers of the thirties. Actually those grand old flicks far surpass this.

The show doesn't pack the theaters; it is doubtful if ever will. The acting is poor, the plot is absurd and the suspense is negligible.

The most suspenseful part of the story is when an open grave is shown during a thunderstorm. A weird mist floats around in the air above the hole. It is probably a visitor from the dead, but there is some doubt.

Suddenly a crack of thunder sounds, and a flash of lightning strikes a power line. The live electric wire falls against the locked gate of the tomb, which puts the husband in danger of his life.

The powerful terror generated by the electrifying event was very much like the terror created by Mel Brooks in "Young Frankenstein."

Oscars this year. When a man chases invisible beings around with a rod trying to hit them, something is lacking. The wretch swings aimlessly at nothing. There's no telling what makes him "kill" his once-dead wife by cobwebbing her over the head with the rod.

The plot is boring. If the director had thrown in a mummy or two, or even a fish with giant, gaping jaws, the story would be more exhilarating.

To sum it all up, the effort reflects the work of a high school group doing its best. "Till Death" gets a half-star rating and will hopefully be taken off the market, cremated and buried deep inside Mother Earth.

'King Kong' movie to be shown here

The original "King Kong" and "Cops" will be presented by the BYU film society tonight at 6 and 8:20 and Friday and Saturday at 7 and 9:30 p.m. in 446, MARB. The monster movie was conceived by Merian C. Cooper and was two years in the making. Success was assured with the invaluable aid of Willis O'Brien, who had a special technique with which small models of the "giant" ape and other creatures were made with movable parts, said Wayne M. Hentschel, chairman of Film Society.

By shooting one frame, moving the models slightly, shooting another frame, moving the models again—over and over—film was obtained on which the beasts actually walked, ran and battled. With this process, enough footage could be obtained from ten hours of work to fill thirty seconds of screen time.

Actress Fay Wray, who screamed her way into Hollywood's history, was jokingly referred to as starting opposite "the tallest, darkest leading man in Hollywood," said Hentschel.

According to Hentschel, Kong is more than just a beautiful actress, she manages to have a personality. The moviegoer watches as Kong becomes entranced with a beautiful actress, sees the gorilla enraged at his enemies and even feels sympathy as the beast is killed. In the excitement of it all, many viewers forget that Kong is not real.

Along with "King Kong," the Film Society will present the Buster Keaton short "Cops." This excellent comedy is considered the first Keaton masterpiece, Hentschel said.

Manti Temple Pageant will involve 300 in cast

By DAN STOUT
Universe Staff Writer

This year's Mormon Miracle Pageant in Manti will involve 300 cast members. The performances for the ninth annual pageant will be today through Saturday and July 15 through 19 at Temple Hill in Manti. Curtain time is 9:15 each evening. The presentation is based on an original reading by Miss Grace Johnson. It contains episodes in the life of Joseph Smith, the pioneers moving west and scenes from the Book of Mormon. Seating for 10,000 is provided at the base of Temple Hill, and another 10,000 can find locations for good sight and sound on spacious lawns. Admission is free. There will be ample parking within walking distance of the temple grounds, according to R. Morgan Dyreng, pageant general manager. An estimated half-million people have attended past pageants; 120,000 attended last year. Lael J. Woodbury, dean of the BYU College of Fine Arts and Communications, has urged students to use good judgment and traffic safety if they are planning to make the 85-mile trip to Manti. The Manti South and Center Wards will prepare home-cooked meals in their cultural halls each evening prior to the performance. Although food booths convenient to the Temple grounds will be operated, food and drink are not permitted inside the gates. "The pageant is almost a year-long endeavor," Dyreng said. "And we are doing everything possible to make attendance a safe, enjoyable, and edifying experience for the thousands of visitors we will welcome to our area in July." Some of the features utilized in the pageant will be elaborate settings, a unique sound system and lighting.

Kottke concert opens tonight at Capitol Theater in Salt Lake

The Capitol Theater has announced the appearance of Leo Kottke in concert, featuring "The Deseret String Band" tonight at 7:00 p.m. In 1973, Kottke and his small arsenal of string instruments toured Europe with Procul Harum, performing in concerts. The Deseret String Band consists of five musicians who play a variety of instruments, in addition to singing. The Deserets play Irish fiddle tunes, southern string band music, and songs from their native Southwest. In their album "Ice Water," they were one of the first ever to record acoustic hard rock. Their previous Capitol Album was "Greenhouse." An earlier record—"Land Of Milk and Honey"—was recorded by Okehdokee Records of Salt Lake City. Tickets are $6 and may be bought at: Tape Head Company, Special Events Center Ticket Office, Capitol Theater, (all in Salt Lake City); Competition store in Ogden; Central Bank in Provo; and all Hart Brothers Music Stores.

Enyeart, ex-Cat run to U.S. wins

Utah State's Mark Enyeart helped the American track and field team to victories over Czechoslovakia and Poland in a two-day triangular meet in Prague. Enyeart, the fast-rising USA track star, took his specialty, the 800-meter run. His time was 1:47.3. The Aggie junior turned in the top U.S. effort last week against the Russians in Kiev, where the American team was handed its worst track defeat. His 1:46.1 in the meet with Poland and Czechoslovakia easily topped his two foreign competitors.

AAU javelin champion Richard George of BYU was third in his event, with a toss

Sports

The Daily Universe

of 272-7. George's spear toss was his second best of his career, four inches short of his personal best set at the AAU championships three weeks ago in Eugene, Ore.

Fellow American Bob Wallis won the event with a toss of 278-11.

Former BYU distance

runner Dave Babiracki was a surprise victor in the 10,000 meter run. Babiracki, who transferred to BYU from junior college, was a third-place finisher in the 1974 WAC championships in the six-mile, and possessed the fastest three-mile clocking in the three-mile run of WAC performers in 1974.

His upset win came when the Granada Hills, Calif. native outtraced Poland's Henry Nogalski to the tape in a time of 28:51.2.

All three nations competed in the same events, but the scores were kept separately in dual meet competition.

The American team comprised of AAU placers took the competition with a narrow win over the Polish national team, while blasting the Czech team.

Opposing soccer players compete for possession of the ball in recent action.

Blues victors, 6-0 in soccer

The BYU-sponsored Summer Soccer League kicked off to a fine start last Saturday with two games played.

The Varsity Blues team gained a convincing victory over the newly formed Provo team, El Azteca, by a 6-0 score.

Hans Henchen opened the scoring for BYU after

In the 20th minute, Carlos Alvarez collected a loose ball in the midfield and made a fast break through with excellent ball control before netting the ball into the Aztec's goal mouth.

The third goal came from a penalty kick scored by Brig Ord, making the score 3-0 at halftime. Three more goals were scored in the second half by Rodriguez Enrique, Hans Henchen and Carlos Alvarez.

The second game found the varsity team defeating the JV team, 7-1. Forward Reed Hansen scored three goals in the first half, and the other four goals came from Bryan Robinson, Kevin Howard, Ralph Proce and Alan Bruun.

Saturday morning's games will feature teams from Orem, Provo, Sandy and BYU Special Courses.

At 7 p.m. Saturday, BYU's varsity team will play Bountiful and the junior varsity team will play El Azteca.

Soccer clinics and courses are offered by BYU Special Courses and City Recreation programs on every Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. Interested persons may contact the director, Jim Dunsen.

Parents or adults can be trained as officials and coaches during these clinics.

High success demand an all-around gymnast

By DEBORAH HEWARD
Universe Sports Writer

The all-around gymnast is the only competitor that can make it in higher competition, according to BYU Coach Hiromichi Sano. The gymnast must be competitively strong in all six events in order to qualify for competition.

The Japanese technique, taught at BYU, is believed by Sano to be a large factor in bringing many new talented gymnasts to BYU.

"I think every gymnast's dream is to go to the national and international championships," said the BYU coach. Many young gymnasts are coming to BYU hoping to make real their goals and dreams.

Sano explained that in order to compete in higher competition, a gymnast must not specialize in a single event but must be an all-around gymnast competitive in each of the six events.

"Specializing is peculiar only to the U.S.," stated Sano. "In Japan, all gymnasts are all-around performers."

According to Sano, 40 percent of the NCAA coaches were in favor of changing NCAA competition to all-around performances, eliminating specialists, but most schools do not have gymnasts who are ready for competing in six events.

Because of the movement towards all-around competition and its dominance in national and international meets, training in all six events by each gymnast has become the goal of the two BYU training camps to be held July 1-25 and Aug. 1-25. Training sessions will be held from 5 to 8:30 each evening.

Another practice of the Japanese is constant training. While the American gymnast is not in training during the summer, Coach Sano has his team in a concentrated program. Sano explained that one of the greatest mistakes of gymnasts is not staying in shape and practice during the summer.

Concentration is essential to the safety and perfect performance of a gymnast. "Gymnastics is much different from basketball or football in this way," said the coach. "If you lose concentration on the high bar, it could mean a broken neck."

BYU will have 12 all-around gymnasts this season, compared to last year's three. Along with the 12 all-around performers is a list of talented specialists.

Isamu Maesato of Japan will hold a top position on the team. Arriving at BYU on July 10, Maesato has been in the top three all-around gymnasts in Japan school level.

Three other gymnasts to be on the team will Sparhawk, Dave Arnold Neville, Sanders are transferred from Odessa College and Neville is from Africa. Bill Slover Angeles, will be a bar specialist.

Y golfers chosen as All-Americans

BYU junior golf star Mike Reid has been named to the All-American golf team for the second consecutive year.

Reid, who helped BYU to a fifth place NCAA finish last week, was selected by the All-American Golfing Committee to the prestigious 10-man 1975 golf team.

Walker Cup teammates Jerry Pate of Alabama, Jay Hass and Curtis Strange of the Wake Forest NCAA titlists, joined Reid on the team.

Also on the elite 10-member squad were Phil Hancock and Andy Bean of Florida; Jaime Gonzales, Oklahoma State; Keith Fergus, Houston; Kelly Roberts, Indiana; and Mark Lye of San Jose State.

Reid, a native of Aurora, Colo., was the fourth Cougar to become a first team All-American.

He joined BYU golf names like Johnny Miller, Ray Leach, and Lance Suzuki with that distinction.

He was the youngest Cougar ever selected to the All-American team.

Freshman standout Mike Brannan, who finished highest among the Cougars at the NCAA championships in Columbus two weeks ago, was named to the ten-man third team All-American squad.

The Salinas, Calif. native was the runner-up in the WAC championships, as well as winner of the Fresno Classic crown.

Transfer athletes benefit track team

The BYU track and field team has been weakened by the graduation of several important starters, but Assistant Track Coach Larry Berryhill points out that several transfers and "redshirts" will aid greatly in the team's reconstruction.

According to Coach Berryhill, those redshirting are athletes who may have had injuries or just returned from a mission who want to take a year out to get back in shape and still be allowed to participate four full years.

This year's track team has lost starters Phil Cummings, Langeland, Arrhenius, Alarout, Johnson, Tamani and Pratt.

Two transfers will strengthen the team—John Baardson from the University of Colorado and Allen Herbison from the University of Wyoming.

Baardson will compete for the Cougars in the 1977 track campaign, according to Berryhill. The javelin thrower, originally from the state of Washington, has a best throw of 246 feet. He will be a sophomore in eligibility.

Allen Herbison, the 1975 WAC finalist in the high hurdles, will greatly strengthen the Cougars in his special area.

Some of the "redshirts" include Arild Watne of Norway. Arild will be competing in the steeplechase. Berryhill said he feels Arild will be the best steeplechaser that BYU has ever had.

Also among the transfers is Steve Young, second in the WAC in 1972 in intermediate hurdles. Steve has sophomore eligibility.

Dale Connolly will compete in the 220. Dale has been out with a hamstring injury but will be ready for next season. Berryhill pointed out that Dale holds the school record in the 220.

Keith Gardenkrans of Sweden will compete in the discus and the shot. Keith threw the shot 203 feet at age 18 and promises to add great strength to the team, Berryhill said.

Other redshirts strengthening the team will be Reid Richards, who holds eligibility as a junior in track and a senior in cross country, and Steve Baxter, who is, according to Berryhill, the best long jumper ever at BYU.

New classes for arts

The Department of Theater and Cinematic Arts has announced several course additions to its curriculum for the fall semester. Dr. Charles Metten, department chairman noted.

The classes include, Introduction to the Motion Picture Art, History of the Motion Picture Art, and Make-up for Film and TV. The new classes are part of the department's expanding emphasis on theater within the cinema industry, Dr. Metten said.

The additional courses will also include a "Forensic Programming" class.

The Haifa Dancers from Israel will perform at BYU's first International Dance Festival Sept. 4, 5, and 6.

International festival

Folk dancers coming

By LOWELL N. STEELE

Approximately 300 dancers, representing Israel, Poland, Japan, Polynesia and the United States will participate in BYU's First International Folk Dance Festival Sept. 4, 5 and 6, according to Dr. Clayne Jensen, dean of the College of Physical Education.

Performances will be held in the Marriott Center at 8 p.m. each day of the festival. Although each performance will feature a particular dance troupe, all the dancers will perform nightly.

Tickets go on sale today in the Marriott Center Ticket Office, according to Herb McLean, BYU Centennial Committee member. Admission is $3.50 for seats below the concourse and $2.50 above. Faculty, staff, students and children pay $1 less.

The festival is one of the main events of the BYU Centennial, according to McLean.

Major participating dance groups include the Ensemble of the Japanese Folklore Association, the Folk Dance Ensemble of the University of Maria Curie-Skłodowska in Lublin, Poland; the Municipality Students Folk Dancing Group from Haifa, Israel; the Polynesian Dance Ensemble of Laie, Hawaii; and the BYU International Folk Dancers, who will host the event.

"We have had many requests from dance groups from all over the world who want to take part in the festival. And in our judgment, these five were the outstanding groups from each culture on the list," explained Mary Bee Jensen, director of the International Organizers of Folk Festivals (CIOFF), conceived the idea of the festival 10 years ago, and has been working on making it a reality ever since.

The Folk Dancers are particularly eager to welcome the Haifa Dancers from Israel, according to Gary Hopkinson, technical director for BYU dance groups.

"We first met the Haifa Dancers on the island of Leftas, Greece, in 1966 at a festival there. They performed on a stage built over the water, and they stole the show," Hopkinson recalled.

Since then, BYU's Folk Dancers have been invited to visit Haifa twice. During these visits, according to Hopkinson, the friendship between the BYU and the Israeli groups developed. Many members of both groups still correspond with each other.

The Folk Dance Ensemble of the University of Marie Curie-Skłodowska in Lublin, Poland, was organized 20 years ago by Stanislaw Leszczynski, who is still the director. The group has been lauded by the press throughout Europe.

The ensemble of the Japanese Folklore Association, with which the BYU dancers have also associated is sponsored by folklorist Eiji Yamasaki. Perhaps one of the most famous of the dances in the ensemble's repertoire is the dance of the Samurai, an order of medieval warriors in Japan. Dressed in the hakama, the traditional garment of the Samurai, the dancers use fans and elaborate arm and footwork to portray a story.

to Douglas Bell, assistant registrar for registration, the total of students enrolled spring term was 9,057, compared to 8,828 for 1974.

"The registration system functioned well," he said.

But, according to Bell, too many students are still using late registration.

"We feel that students should take advantage of priority deadlines," he continued.

Bell explained that meeting priority deadlines allows the student a greater chance of getting an ideal schedule. Also, it helps the student avoid late registration fees.

Bell indicated that although July 7 was the priority deadline for fall semester, forms can be turned in until Aug. 22. "The later students turn them in, however, the less chance they will have of receiving the classes they have requested," he said.

Jerusalem LDS head will speak

The president of the Jerusalem Branch of the LDS Church will discuss the Middle East situation today in a public lecture at 7:30 p.m. in the Wilkinson Center East Ballroom.

David B. Galbraith, a doctoral candidate in political science at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, will speak on "Special LDS Insights into Israel—Religious, Political and Military." Admission is free.

Pres. Galbraith "is probably the top expert in the LDS Church on the Middle East situation," according to Robert C. Taylor, chairman of the Dep. of Travel Studies. Pres. Galbraith has lived in Israel for six years, and has served as president of the Jerusalem Branch since its organization in 1972.

David B. Galbraith, president of the LDS Jerusalem Branch and a doctoral candidate at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, speaks at Jerusalem's Garden Tomb.

Executive Council selects summer term frosh chief

Scott Earnshaw, a freshman Political Science major from Bedford, N. H., has been named the summer Freshman Involvement vice president.

The announcement was made by Bob Henne, ASBYU president, and supported unanimously by the ASBYU Executive Council. Earnshaw was recommended by a committee of ASBYU council members who interviewed all applicants and judged each upon qualities of leadership, organization and motivation.

Earnshaw commented that he wanted the position for the experience and for preparation for future student government jobs. The former high school student body president will have "definite programs and policies to work on, but a lot of the success" for the summer will result from his own initiative," according to Clark Rikhter, ASBYU executive vice president.

3 groups scheduled for tours

Three tours are leaving BYU this month, including Europe on a Shoestring, Europe East and West '75, and the Church History and American Heritage tour.

These tours are organized by the BYU Department of Travel Studies for students, alumni and their immediate families, according to Dan Hone, promotional supervisor in the Department of Travel Studies.

The two European tours left Wednesday by chartered flight from Salt Lake City, and will return Aug. 6. The Europe on a Shoestring tour, approximately $400 less expensive than the Europe East and West tour, cuts the cost by visiting one less country and by staying in more economical hotels.

The Europe East and West tour includes Hungary, and costs $1,798 compared to $1,360 for Europe on a Shoestring, according to Hone. Both tours visit Holland, Czechoslovakia, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland, France, England, and Belgium.

There are still 22 openings in the Church History and American Heritage tour, according to Hone. The tour leaves in three groups on Wednesday through Friday returning Aug. 3, 4 and 5 respectively. The purpose of the tour is "to develop a better feeling about the history of the country and the church."

Classes for Y computer users

Computer user seminars, which are planned for persons with no previous computer experience, will begin July 14 on a no-fee, non-credit basis.

According to Ray Preston of Computer Services, the seminars are being held in an attempt to help members of the BYU community more effectively use computing facilities.

Many of the courses may be viewed on television in BYU residence halls, listening and resources centers in the library, E333 HFAC, 2270 SFLC and 161 BRMB, Preston said.

Classes to be offered include: Beginning BASIC, which is a beginning computer language somewhat similar to FORTRAN but designed for simpler use on terminals and minicomputers. It is offered July 14, 16, 21 and 23 from 4:10 to 5 p.m. in 393 ESTB. No television lessons are available for this course.

Beginning SPSS (Statistical Package for Social Sciences) designed to give the researcher a convenient and integrated system of statistical routines for data analysis. The course is offered July 22 and 24 from 4:10 to 5 p.m. SFLC. Television lessons will be held on 7 p.m. on closed circuit channels 14-17, 21-24 and 28-30.

Beginning TECO (character code editing) will be held July 16 and 31 to 5 p.m. in 406 ESTB. No lessons are available.

Beginning COBOL (Common Oriented Language) is a production processing of language. This course is being television only. Manuals and the course may be checked out secretary in 403 ESTB.

Business majors need photos taken

All business majors should have their picture taken and fill out a student information summary, according to Peggy Card, supervisor of the College of Business advancement center.

The summary is to help the advancement center accumulate a more complete and personalized file on the student which would make it easier for the faculty members to fill out recommendations.

Students who wish to take advantage of the student information summary should plan to visit the College of Business advancement center between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. tours.

Provo floods: preventable?

By STEVEN BENTLEY
Universe Staff Writer

The director of the Provo Water and Waste Department and the superintendent of the Provo River Water Users Association differ on whether Provo area flooding could have been avoided.

Dean Wheadon, director of the Water and Waste Department, said Friday that the Deer Creek Reservoir could have held the run-off of excess waste had the situation been handled properly, and Provo area flooding could have been avoided.

Wheadon said that if the last foot of elevation of the Deer Creek Reservoir had been saved to store peak flows, then a consistent volume of water could have been released from the reservoir, avoiding overflow of the Duchesne and Weber rivers.

Hugh McKellar, superintendent of the Provo River Water Users Association, said that the Deer Creek Reservoir has no flood control provisions, and once the reservoir is full, then excess water has to be let out.

McKellar added that once the reservoir is filled, there is no possible way of keeping the Provo river from over-filling it.

Inconsistency of water flow has caused much of the flooding in the Provo area, McKellar said. Nothing could keep the river flow consistent.

He explained that the release of the water is determined by temperature and the melting of the snow in the mountains.

Park work continues

After 12 years of construction, the Orem City Marina, a Utah Lake recreation area, is still not completed.

According to Orem City Manager Earl Wengren, the marina has been under construction for 12 years, and may take a lot longer to complete.

"We have built the marina on a piecemeal basis," Wengren said.

Randall Deschamps, community development director, said cost estimates to fully develop the park have never been made.

The city did petition the Utah Division of Natural Resources to designate the marina as a state park, but the petition was returned with the explanation that the division cannot designate state parks, since only the legislature has that power, Wengren said.

Wengren said the city is drafting a petition to the legislature to make the Marina a state park. He added, however, the petition may not be sent because there has been no decision made that this is the "way to go."

The project is not moving ahead because the city council needs to determine where the Marina project lies on a list of priorities, Wengren said.

KANSAS-City (AP) — Easter Island in the Pacific Ocean, located some 2,400 miles west of Chile, was so named because of its discovery on Easter Sunday, 1722, by the Dutch Admiral Roggeveen. But Eastertime religious celebrations have been held there only since 1968, when the island's inhabitants were converted to Christianity, reports Hallmark researcher Sally Hopkins. Easter Island is famous for its gigantic stone statues, some 40 feet tall, whose origin has never been explained.
